

WHAT'S NEW ON THE FARM

Trusting the products you purchase starts with knowing your farmers. Keep reading to learn more about us and take advantage of a last chance offer on page 3.

WHY QUALITY MATTERS

See a side-by-side comparison of our products vs. the competition, and find out why we don't have to use CBD isolate in our products. More on page 2.

PARTNERSHIPS & COMMUNITY

We believe in building a strong community! Our Hemp Infused Honey wouldn't be possible without Coddle Creek Farms. Read more on page 2.

KNOW YOUR FARMERS: IT'S DATE NIGHT AT THE FARM!

High quality plants means high quality products! Breeding trials are an important part of creating plants with the best genetics — something we strive for.

The process of breeding and selecting the best genetics takes approximately one year, but it's well worth the wait — our in-house bred variety Electric Buffalo was the NC 2020 Cannabis Cup Winner!

COMMUNITY IS IMPORTANT TO US

Queen Hemp Company is proud to partner with Coddle Creek Farms for our hemp honey jars and sticks. Honey is an excellent natural sweetener for your morning tea or coffee... or to eat right off the spoon!

Their family has owned and operated their local honey farm for three generations in the historic Coddle Creek community of North Carolina.

They have always strived to provide the finest and freshest products. Please visit them in the Lake Norman area of Charlotte, or stop by their website: www.coddlecreekfarms.com

OUR 2000 MG FULL SPECTRUM HEMP EXTRACT IS ON SALE!

Most leading brands enrich their products with CBD isolate. Why? They do not have nutrient dense plants with exceptional CBD values.

How do we compare? We have nutrient dense plants that we grow ourselves, and ours have exceptional CBD values! This is because we are an environmentally-controlled, indoor hydroponic hemp farm, which allows us to grow higher quality plants.

We control the entire process, from seed, to final product, to YOU, to ensure we're delivering the best quality products that don't have to be enriched for effectiveness.
